NEWS NOTES.

New York has contributed $250,000 to the Galveston relief fund.

A post-office has been established at Willowdale, Clay county, Ella W. Pittman, postmaster.

Witnesses introduced in the case of Jim Howard at Frankfort include a number of mountaineers, who have, between them, killed 27 men.

In a freight wreck on the R. & C. at Sandville, Scott county, five tramps were killed and five injured, three of them seriously.

A New York man, who prided himself on his heavy mustache, committed suicide, when an antagonist pulled it out in a fight.

Phil Gentile, who snatched a diamond out of J. W. Duncan's shirt front at Lexington, was given eight years in the penitentiary.

The defalcation of County Clerk Claude Chinn, of Fayette, has been settled and the suit against his bondsmen will be dismissed.

The output of the anthracite coal in Pennsylvania is 75,000,000 tons a year, when the 150,000 miners now idle are working full time.

Four Negroes were lynched at Pontchartroula, La. They were taken from jail. The town has recently been infested with Negro burglars.

Near Sumpter, Ore., Fred Kane shot and mortally wounded his wife, killed his step daughter, and, after burning the body of the latter, attempted suicide.

At Wrentham James Breathitt attempted suicide by taking morphine, because a paper had written him up for disorderly conduct at a public speaking.

Within the week two of most famous surgeons of this country have passed away. Dr. Hunter McGuire, of Virginia, and Dr. Lewis Albert Sayre, of New York.

J. B. Chenault, State Insurance commissioner, was appointed a member of the executive committee of the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners, in session at Hartford, Conn.

"Jim Howard has proved a conclusive alibi," observes one of the organs of assassination. More than that, he has "proved" that he was at pretty much every point in the State, except in the Statehouse, when Senator Goebel was assassinated. By these same witnesses it can be "proved" that Senator Goebel committed suicide.—Louisville Times.

The gibbering ghoul of the organs of assassination are defiling the tomb of William Goebel and endeavoring to make the death of John Sanford, killed in fair fight years ago, a political issue, out this poorly simulated horror of bloodshed may be taken for its real worth when these same organs of assassination exalt Jim Howard—who murdered old man Baker under circumstances of peculiar ferocity—as the rose and expectancy of the young manhood of Kentucky.—Louisville Times.

Emma C. Gilbert, a beautiful, talented girl of Enfield, Mass., was a 13th child, born on the 13th day of the month. When she was 13 she was stricken with a serious illness. She was one of the brightest girls in her class in the Westfield Normal School, and wanted to be a teacher. The appointment came to her on the 13th day of September. It struck her like a blow. Sunday night, driven frantic by her thoughts and believing herself to be hoodooed by "13," she blew out her brains.

HIS LIFE WAS SAVED.

Mr. J. L. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says, "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I could not even sit up in bed. Some friends expected to see me die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery, this bottle gave me great relief. I could sit up, and eat, and sleep, and I am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all that cruel Lung Trouble. Regular size 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free at Penny's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

At Mansfield, O., two elders of the Dawie faith were captured by a mob, stripped and painted with smoke stack varnish. Later the men were taken to prison, where the varnish was removed, and they were then deported on a Pennsylvania train.

NO RIGHT TO VIOLENCE.

The woman who lately in law, torn and tender, will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. Frake has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric light is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 25 cents at Penny's Drug Store.

A lone masked robber held up a Northern Pacific passenger train near Spokane and went through the passengers. Four men held up a train on the Burlington, near Lincoln, Neb.

A lame shoulder is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles, and may be cured by a few applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

In its Sunday issue the Lexington Herald has an editorial entitled, "Keep Holy the Sabbath."

ESMAINE'S IRON NERVE.

Was the result of his splendid health. Indomitable will and tremendous energy are not found where stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They develop the power of brain and body. Only 25c at Penny's Drug Store.

LANCASTER.

Virgil Gastineau is the father of a 17-pound daughter.

Miss Bessie Eakin, of Louisville, is here with relatives.

In the police court, Cary Robinson, colored, was fined $25 for selling liquor unlawfully.

John I. Burdett has sold his farm of 38 acres to T. H. Walker at $14, and he will move to Indiana. W. S. Ferguson sold two yearling steers to J. L. McCaskey for $91.50.

The reception at the Christian church for the purpose of meeting Elder and Mrs. A. R. Moore was well attended, and the members are well pleased with the new pastor and his wife.

J. C. Thompson is agent for the Lexington Daily Democrat, edited by Col. W. P. Walton, and it will be found at his jewelry store. Subscribe for it, and get a real hot democratic paper.

Ralph Arnold reports the following from J. L. Woner's sale: Cows sold at $20 to $35; horses at $10 to $75; mules at $30 to $70; hogs at 14c; corn at $1.70 in the heap and hay at 35c per hundred in the rack.

Hon. R. H. Tomlinson spoke to a large crowd at Wallacetown last Saturday and he gave them straight democratic doctrine in his forcible manner. There are 315 members in the democratic club, which is more than the democratic vote in the precinct, several republicans having joined the club. He says that Madison county is sure to go democratic, as they are all at work and they are very enthusiastic.

The Garrard Roller Mills have been completed at a cost of $10,000, and the people are indebted to Mr. Ed Minor for the enterprise. The first run was made on Friday and its capacity is easily 100 barrels. He is producing several superior grades of flour, one being branded "Garrard's," so named by the proprietor, as a product of Garrard county. Hopes of procuring water was abandoned at a depth of 155 feet, but a pool and another well will furnish a sufficient quantity.

Senator G. T. Farris is at home today, Monday, jubilant over democratic prospects for success in State and National campaigns. He is opposed to the election bill, which seeks to make the sheriff umpire in county boards, because it turns over a number of counties to the republicans. He favors the appointment of two from each party for the State board, with the attorney general as umpire, that board to appoint the county boards and he believes that such a bill can be passed. He says that the Golden rule in politics is, "Do unto others as you know they would do unto you."

On Wednesday forenoon at the residence of Maj. R. Kincaid, Miss Nellie Marrs and Mr. G. B. Swinebroad will take the marriage vows. Dr. J. L. McKee officiating. Miss Grace Kincaid will play the wedding march, the attendants will be Miss Albie Marksberry and Mr. John M. Lear, and the ribbon girls Misses Marguerite Kincaid and Annel Tomlinson. The parties are favorites in society and received congratulations and good wishes from everybody. Miss Marrs is possessed of all the traits that constitute the noblest womanhood, and Mr. Swinebroad is a bright young lawyer enjoying a good practice and possessing the confidence and esteem of the public.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY A GREAT FAVORITE.

The soothing and healing properties of this remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and permanent cures have made it a great favorite with people everywhere. It is especially prized by mothers of small children for colds, croup and whooping cough, as it always affords quick relief, and as it contains no opium or other harmful drug, it may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

Sixty-four more bodies were recovered from the wreckage at Galveston Saturday. There were 2,538 buildings destroyed by the hurricane in the city, besides about 1,000 outside and close to the city. Sanitary conditions are improving and the temporary hospital has been abolished. Exemption from State taxation for two years is being discussed.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm applied to a cut, bruise, burn, scald or like injury will instantly allay the pain and will heal the parts in less time than any other treatment. Unless the injury is very severe it will not leave a scar. Pain Balm also cures rheumatism, sprains, swellings and lameness. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

What most people want is something mild and gentle, when in need of a physician. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets fill the bill in a dot. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

The Confederate monument at Owensboro was unveiled Saturday in the presence of 6,000 people with impressive ceremonies. Addresses were made by Capt. W. T. Ellis and the Hon. John W. Lockett.

Interesting Letter About The Galveston Horror.

Having just returned from the stricken city of Galveston, I will undertake with your permission in as brief a space as possible to convey to the readers of the INTERIOR JOURNAL some idea of the magnitude of the calamity that has befallen the beautiful city and its people. Two weeks ago today I entered the little island city. I found its streets built mostly of Pine and Hois de Arc blocks resembling a marble floor. They were lined with magnificent palms, oleanders and magnolias overshadowed a veritable earth of flowers, the perfumes of which mingled with the ocean's breeze was wafted to every corner of the isle. Yesterday I left her streets a mass of ruins, not a single tree or shrub left, not a building but what had suffered severe damage or total destruction. Instead of the perfume of the flowers, the odor of burning flesh rendered you ghastly sick, for they no longer bury at sea, but as soon as a body is found it is buried along with the hundreds of horses, cows and other animals that were drowned. And last but not least hardly a family could be found but what had lost some near and dear one.

Thirteen months of the closest confinement I ever endured in my life broke me down in health and body and that misfortune found me in the Sealy Hospital, that city, on the fatal night of the storm endeavoring to regain health. I intended coming out the afternoon before, but the wind and waves were so high no railroad company would dare venture one of its trains across the five-mile bridge that spans the bay between the island and the main land, consequently I had to remain and remaining I had to see, and what I saw will ever be pictured as vividly on my memory as it was on the morning following that eventful night. The only unfortunate ones in the hospital were the 26 Sisters, whose handsome home across the street and everything they possessed, went down in the tidal wave. They bore it with the same fortitude they bear everything and instead of grieving remained at their respective posts ministering to the wants of the afflicted. The building we were in cost a quarter of a million dollars and was one of the most substantial in the city. The roof, however, was taken off and not a single glass was left. The kitchen smoke stack, 60 feet high, came in on one corner of the building, completely demolishing it, but no one received anything more than a terrible scare. We were on the highest point of the island, six feet above the level of the sea, and notwithstanding that the water reached a depth of seven feet around us.

I did not venture out until Monday afternoon when I accompanied two of the physicians to the gulf beach, where we saw 700 bodies laid along in rows for the purpose of identification. It soon became apparent though, that all efforts at identification would have to be stopped and these bodies, one half of them naked and distorted, were loaded like lumber on two large barges and towed out to sea, there to be consigned to a watery grave. It was a sickening sight and one never to be forgotten. One of the most pitiable of any I saw was that of a little babe about two years of age. He was tied on a door with a bottle of milk around his neck, evidently placed there by its parents who apprehended the worst and thinking perhaps the little fellow would pull through when they went down. Battling with the waves was too much for him and he soon succumbed, leaving a smile on his little face. The thrilling experience and ghastly sights would bring a tear to the eyes of the hardest hearted wretch that ever lived. I saw men, women and children utterly devoid of sense and reason, totally insane, some praying they might die and others pulling the clothing from their backs and the hair from their heads, while some would sit for awhile in a pathetic silence then burst out in a laugh to be followed by tears. Perhaps their insanity was a blessing for they no longer knew what had happened. They were hopelessly insane, they were mad.

The city for awhile Monday was on the verge of anarchy. Men and women were everywhere drunk. The Negroes and some white hyenas in human form, as one paper called them, began to plunder the city and loot the bodies of the dead. The mayor at noon swore in 300 extra police, called out a company of soldiers and issued a proclamation declaring martial law. As a result the saloons were all closed, about 100 Negroes killed and order finally restored. We had no communication with the outside world and people who had relatives or friends on the island simply had to wait until it was re-established. It is all sadness there now and it will be many a day before Galveston is herself again. I came out on the steamer Lawrence loaded with people for nearly every portion of the United States. Some still weeping and others realizing that they were going out into the world to begin afresh the battle of life, face to face with desolation and want, bid their faces in their hands and implored Almighty God to take them to God. It will never be known how many lives were lost, but the mayor's estimate of 6,000 is thought to be conservative.

Hurriedly yours,
R. M. NEWLAND.

Your old Paul Kreuger is to be taken to Holland in a Dutch cruiser on account of his health. The exact nature of his disease is not stated, but he is probably apprehensive of being afflicted with the ailment that killed Napoleon, confinement on the barren island of St. Helena. This virtually ends the South African war, from which England emerges with very little credit to herself as a fighter and with a damaged reputation as to her regard for the rights of weaker nations. This has been the most surprising and probably as unjust a war as any in which she ever engaged. It will be hard to make the world believe that it was not brought on by commercial selfishness. The gold mines of the Transvaal have long been attractive to English eyes and when the whole truth is known it will more than likely appear that Mr. Cecil Rhodes was the moving power behind Mr. Joseph Chamberlain in bringing on the war. A London dispatch charges that the latter gentleman will reap rich pecuniary rewards on account of his stock holdings in South Africa, which, if true, puts him in an awkward predicament. The transactions of the last few years show clearly that England has all the time been determined to get possession of the Transvaal by fair means or foul. The cost of the war is estimated at £100,000,000 and as a pound is a fraction over $1.85 in value, it will be seen that it has been a right costly affair. The war was bitterly opposed by England's wisest statesmen and best citizens and Sir William Vernon Harcourt says the result is that England is "now the best hated country in the world and burdened with such an accumulated debt that we may well regard our National finance with the gravest apprehension."

Those of us whose memories go back to the events of 1776 and their antecedent causes can't avoid sympathy for the crushed Boers, notwithstanding our great love for England. It will be remembered that some preachers, Luther, Calvin, Zwingli, Knox, and others raised a commotion in Europe several years ago by teaching that the people should read and interpret the Bible for themselves. The new doctrine spread like wild fire and led to other notions derogatory to the King's prerogative and finally resulted in a great many people having to move. While our pilgrim forefathers came this way, a lot of Hollanders went to the jumping off place in Africa, and they are the ancestors of the Boers. As soon as they cleared the region around the Cape of Good Hope of undergrowth, alligators, and savages, England concluded that she wanted it, and they quietly "trekked" a little further North. After going through the same process, they soon had to "trek" again for the same reason. They finally tired of "trekking" and made the gallant stand in which they have just been crushed, and old Oom Paul to secure liberty of person goes to the same country that his ancestors left 250 years ago to secure liberty of conscience. We all love England and you for compelling the others to keep hands off while we made Spain walk Spanish. When she is good, she is very, very good, but when she is bad she is horrid.

D. LINN GOOCH, democratic nominee for Congress in the Sixth, is a good, clean man and a splendid democrat. He has been president of the Jefferson Club of Covington, the largest democratic organization in the State, for years and has done a great deal to promote democracy.

The auditors of Orator Hanna have apparently been giving such rapid attention to his remarks it was thought he was making a great success in his new role, but it develops that their eyes were riveted on the bulge in his garments where the money was supposed to be.

AFTER reading the article on Hanna and the trusts in the Danville Advocate we confidently expect in the near future to see the names of Bryan, Stevenson and Beckham published at the head of its columns as the nominees of the democratic party.

TEDDY ROOSEVELT'S mouth is still giving the republicans trouble. If they had better gag him and start him out with his fellow ruffian riders to giving Buffalo Bill shows.

THE republican organs say that Hanna's recent efforts have developed the fact that he is an able stumpster. They have, on the contrary, developed the fact that he is only a common liar.

Gov. MOUNT says that in alleging that there are no trusts, Hanna made the worst break of the campaign. Mount is hardly as big a fool as has been generally believed.

In the Morning Democrat, which made its appearance Sunday, Lexington has what it has long lacked, a first-class democratic newspaper. Considering the difficulties incident to the issue of the first number, the paper is a model. It has the two essentials of a first-class paper: it tells the news and teaches sound doctrine. That it will be a success is certain and the amount of advertising in its columns shows that the business element is aware of this fact. Those in charge evidently made thorough preparation before they began publication, and the INTERIOR JOURNAL, in the absence of its boss, takes occasion to say that the stockholders by searching the State from one end to the other could not have found a more capable man to take charge of it. He is perfectly familiar with every detail of the work, from setting type to writing leaders on any subject, and has the energy to turn his knowledge into practical results. Lexington now has all the good things which it is entitled to, except the State Capital, and it is to be hoped that the Democrat, whose editor made such a gallant fight against the adoption of the present constitution, will now begin an agitation for a repeal of so much of it as makes Frankfort the permanent seat of government and exert its best efforts to have Lexington selected instead.

THE report that Clara Barton, president of the Red Cross Association, was critically ill in Galveston, happily proves to be untrue. Her indisposition is slight and she is directing the work of relief in the stricken city from her room. The death of this estimable woman would cause almost as great sorrow as the Galveston disaster itself. She has been president of the American Red Cross Society since its organization in 1881, and her whole life, now verging on to three score years and 10, has been devoted to deeds of kindness. From the date of the civil war to this good hour, she has like a ministering angel, followed in the wake of great calamities, whether caused by the carnage of war or the fury of the elements, doing all in her power to relieve the distressed. May the demise of this worthy successor of Florence Nightingale be postponed to the utmost limit and then may she be wafted to Heaven on flowery beds of ease.

THIS from Editor F. J. Campbell, of the Somerset Journal, is greatly appreciated: There is not the slightest ground for apprehension that Mr. Walton will provoke a quarrel or difficulty with Col. Breckinridge or any other newspaper man in Lexington. Towards the press as well as the private people who do not first attack him, and who behave themselves decently, he, as editor and gentleman, is courteous and kindness personified. Toward the sneak and snapper at his heels, he is like the lion, conscious of his strength and may be provoked to tear even a lion limb from limb and afterwards lick the wounds of his misbegotten victim. Walton is all right, especially if dealing with a foe willing to take and give blows.

THE postoffice authorities are virtually suppressing prohibition papers by requiring them to pay third class rates through the mails on the pretended ground that their circulation is free, but really because they have been denouncing McKinley for drinking at public banquets and endorsing the candidate in the Philippine army. Along with the empire are we to have a revival of the old alien and sedition laws?

A RECENT dispatch quotes Hanna as saying that Bryan's crowds are daily dwindling, but the same paper contains telegraphic information that three times as many people as could gain entrance, assembled at the baseball park in St. Joseph, Mo., to hear him speak. As long as an orator draws three times as many people as a baseball game, there are no symptoms of a back number about him.

REV. ANSON PHELPS STOKES, who is worth $10,000,000, has preached his first sermon in New Haven, and says that he regrets that he is encumbered with so much wealth. If he will only practice what he is taught by the good Book to preach, he will have but little trouble in removing this thorn from his side pocket.

JOHN L. POWERS has resigned as superintendent of schools of Knox county. The State superintendent had refused to pay over the county school fund to him. Now let Gov. Beckham offer sufficient reward for him to bring him to trial for being in the conspiracy that murdered Gov. Goebel.

THE Jessamine Journal must have "gotten religion" while the Methodist conference was in session at Nicholasville. It devotes nearly half of its last edition to well-printed cuts of the body, church, etc., and the write-up is evidence that the editors have experienced a change for the better.

PROF. YERKES should adopt the tactics of the South Dakota rough rider, who shot an editor for criticizing his speech, as the plan adopted by him to protect his brother, Johnny, from such outrageous conduct, has had a tendency to increase rather than diminish the cause of offense.

JIM HOWARD'S mousethumb is playing as prominent a part in his trial as the hackberry tree did in the prosecution of Caleb Powers.

THE illustrated edition of the Elizabethton News is a daisy. We congratulate you Brer Sommers.

Thomas C. Platt and Richard Croker, of New York, have fallen out and gone to telling tales on each other. When bad men fall out, good people generally obtain startling information.

A TOUGH JOB.

Has The Interior Journal's Scribe.

LEXINGTON, Sept. 24.—I have spent my first and second nights on a daily paper and am not much enamored of it. In addition to sitting up all night, which is totally at variance with my former mode of life, being used to retiring almost with the sun, I have been in bad condition physically since coming to Lexington and have been in no shape to fulfill the expectations of my partial friends, even if I did not know that was impossible. The difficulties attending the inauguration of a daily newspaper, with everything to get in shape, cannot be appreciated by laymen, but they can take my word for it that they are soul trying and profanity producers.

Owing to the failure of the press to respond to the requirements, on account of hot boxes and other vexations in such cases, made and provided, the last forms did not get to press till 6 A. M., Sunday and then had to be printed by the Transylvania company, the consent to do having been obtained at an ungodly hour of the night from the accommodating manager, Mr. J. W. Porter, who had to be visited at his suburban home and aroused. The delay caused the paper to miss some of the mails and express lines and this will furnish explanation and apology.

The stockholders of the Democrat embrace the largest moneyed men of the city and its board of directors composed of Judge F. A. Bullock, president, R. L. Baker, W. B. Hawkins, Louis des Cognets, J. M. Marsh and D. T. Frazier are as clever and as competent gentlemen as could be selected. Mr. Baker, especially, has taken great interest in getting us a good start. He is the county assessor and as pleasant and as affable a gentleman as graces the capital of the Blue Grass. The business manager, Mr. Hawkins, lived in Lincoln county once, and has grown rich since in the dairy business, which means that he is a hustler.

The editorial force of the Morning Democrat is composed of capable young men, in love with their work and ready and anxious to hustle for scoops. The managing editor, Mr. Willoughby Williams, has had much experience on newspapers, having held a similar position on the Herald for several years. Among the reporters is the noted newspaper correspondent, Mr. Thomas B. Cromwell, who enjoys the distinction of being the best of newsgathers as well as an amateur detective. Much of the evidence in the assassination cases was procured by him and in his work in the mountains, was more than once forced to look in the barrel of an ugly looking weapon in the hands of would-be assassins.

I have formed very pleasant acquaintances here and have heard many a God-speed in the effort to establish a democratic paper. That one is needed and that it will be sustained, no one who talks with the flower of the earth here can doubt. Practically both daily papers here are republican, one professedly so, the other so, but refusing to admit it.

My family is nicely quartered at the Phoenix Hotel, where I hope the friends from Lincoln and the other counties will call on us.

I realize that I have undertaken a serious job, for which I doubted my capacity to fill and continue to doubt, but I shall try it a spell anyway, asking my friends to pray for me and imploring the Lord to have mercy on my soul.

POLITICAL.

Phil B. Thompson, 31, is a candidate for county attorney of Mercer.

Wallaceon, Madison county, has a democratic club of 350 members.

There is talk of holding a democratic legislative caucus at Frankfort one day this week.

The republican State committee of Indiana has decided to let Fugitive Taylor do some speaking.

The democrats of Marion county will hold a primary Dec. 1 to nominate candidates for county offices.

Caleb Powers' birthday was celebrated by all-day speaking at London Saturday. George M. Davison was one of the orators.

Senator Hanna says his remarks at Chillicothe on trusts were misquoted. He also denies that he challenged Bryan to a joint debate.

Congressman Bailey, of Texas, bet H. L. Asher, of Fayette, $15,000 against the latter's string of trotters that Bryan would be elected.

Merchant Todd, at Frankfort, declared under oath on the stand in the Howard case that he had talked with Gov. Goebel since his death.

Hon. A. S. Berry is not a bolter, as is indicated by a telegram from him regarding a speaking appointment to the campaign headquarters.

D. Lin Gooch won the Congressional nomination in the Sixth by 246 votes. Ex-Mayor Rhinock was second and Al Berry, present incumbent, third. Berry does not take his defeat good naturedly and he may run as an independent.

The Franklin county grand jury reported finally that owing to the difficulty in procuring attendance of witnesses, from a distance, no further investigation could be made of the Goebel assassination, but recommended that certain persons be placed under bond to appear before the next grand jury.

The Louisville Afternoon Assailin, having published a statement that Dr. J. M. Williams had stated that he was sure of defeating Congressman Gilbert, the Times remarks: Better known here as the "J. Williams," who took his doll race and departed when refused license to run a harroon two doors from the First Christian church at 4th and Walnut. He should fuse with the prohibitionists of his district.

NEW GOODS!

IN ABUNDANCE.

The First Fall Showing At The Louisville Store

Truly wonderful is the Loom's Wizard Art—Never was there a truer ring to any explanation. This season's patterns show out with splendid effect, fresh, bright and original designs; all admirable; combination of beauty and utility.

This week we lift the curtains on a stack of Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes, Ladies' and Gents' Furnishing Goods, Latest designs in Ladies' Hats, Capes, Cloaks and Jackets, that any merchant in the world might well be proud of.

For many weeks past our buyers have been kept busy in New York selecting these goods and every quality that you will find here this week line passed the critical inspection which entitles it to our personal guarantee for durability and satisfaction.

We have had great stocks before, but none so beautiful, so trustworthy and so complete as the one that is now awaiting your inspection.

We invite you now to call and inspect our stock whether you purchase or not.

This Hat is a felt crown, with stitched brim, polka dot folded sateen band, comes in pearl, royal, brown and cardinal.

Tailor Made Dress Skirts.

This is one Department in which we are particularly well fixed. They are all new Skirts, made of fashionable material and ranging in price from 98c to $6.

A big line of ready-made Wrappers at prices that suit all.

Ladies' and Gents' Underwear.

In this line we are better equipped than we have ever been at a price that will make them move.

See our new Derby Tie for high band collars, Bat Wing Club Ties, Scarfs, etc.

Ladies' Dress Skirts at 98c.

MISS SUE YANTIS attended the wedding of Miss Norma Stone and Mr. Thomas Wall and the elegant reception given by Mrs. Wm. Lear, in Garrard.

THE Somerset Journal says that "Dr." W. S. Drye, of Hustonville, was there the other day. Has "Doc" been palming himself off as a medicine man in Pulaski?

MR. J. A. CARPENTER, of Perryville, was here mingling with old friends yesterday. He was accompanied by Dr. J. E. Caldwell.

A DISTRESSING sign of the disintegration of a once concrete society is seen in the removal of so many of Stanford's best citizens to Danville: Bob Lytle, Bob Gentry, Jesse Lynn, Tom Richards, and later, Will Dawson. If George Hopper, Al Warren, Rance Carson, Peter Straub and a few others we could name should follow, the rest couldn't form a respectable brass band. -Somerset Journal.

In reuniting for his paper, Dr. Jas. M. Bronaugh, formerly of Crab Orchard, but now of Purcell, I. T., says: "We have the fullest cotton crop in the U. S. this year and with 10 cent cotton the farmers are prosperous and happy. I have built up a nice practice here. The country is rich, beautiful and healthful and we have one bank here which has a capital stock of $50,000 and which carries a regular deposit fund of a quarter of a million dollars, so you see there is plenty of money here."

THE salient points brought out in the trial of James Howard at Frankfort will be found on our fourth page. It is good campaign literature. Read it.

MR. T. J. HILL and other good democrats of that section, will organize a democratic club at McCormack's school-house to-night. Go and join.

AT JAMESTOWN.—Hon. R. C. Warren, of this place, Geo. E. Stone, of Liberty, and Hollis Hunt, of Columbia, will speak at Jamestown Monday, Oct. 15.

THE advertisers take up a good deal of our space this issue, thus proving that merchants here and hereabout know where and how to reach the people.

GOOD CROWD.—Hon. R. C. Warren and Harvey Helm spoke to a large and enthusiastic audience at Liberty yesterday. Democracy is in good shape in Casey.

W. C. GREENING telephoned us yesterday that he had just contracted to build for Dr. Edward Alcorn, of Hustonville, a $3,000 brick business building corner Main and Danville streets.

FRANK FREDERICK, a Casey county boy, was perhaps fatally wounded by his own gun Saturday. He was hunting and when getting over a fence his gun discharged, the contents entering his right side.

AT LONDON.—Hon. R. C. Warren will address the citizens of Laurel at the court-house at London, Monday, Oct. 1. Our democratic friends are requested to give this splendid wheel-horse of democracy a good crowd and hearing.

BURKE COMING.—Hon. Frank B. Burke, the distinguished Indiana democrat, will speak here Thursday, Oct. 4. Don't fail to hear him. He is a very attractive speaker and a democrat in whom there is no guile.

THERE is still a demand for copies of this paper containing the column of questions propounded to "Prosy" John W. Yerkes, which by the way he has never answered. Friday a request for one was sent from Walla Walla, Washington.

GOOD MEETING.—James F. Holdam tells us that the Crab Orchard democratic club had a fine meeting Friday night, when rousing speeches were made by Fletcher Owsley, of Lancaster, and County Attorney Sanford, of Henry county.

FRIDAY'S issue of the INTERIOR JOURNAL had not reached Lexington up to yesterday morning, although they were mailed before 12 o'clock that day. Some of these careless postal clerks are going to get into trouble if they don't do better.

MULE IN BANK.—A two-year-old mule belonging to Thomas C. Rankin walked in the First National Bank Friday afternoon, viewed the surroundings and leisurely walked out. The animal interfered with nothing and the officers permitted him to remain their guests as long as it wanted.

MR. JOHN P. DAVIS, formerly of Stanford, but now headquartered at Lexington, has, with J. C. Breanlag and J. B. King, of Louisville, bought out the Falls City Harness Co., of Louisville, and the style of the new firm will be Davis, Breanlag & Co. Mr. Davis has made money traveling for Harbison & Gathright, Louisville, but like all men, wanted to do better. He will continue to live in Lexington and will travel his same territory. Mr. Breanlag had been buying for Harbison & Gathright for 12 years.

PHILLIPS.—Mr. Ike S. Phillips died at midnight Friday, after a lingering illness, caused by a cancer on his face, aged 60. A wife, who was a daughter of the late William Ball, and four children, the youngest seven years old, survive. Mr. Phillips was a splendid citizen, a true blue democrat and a devoted member of the Christian church. He held his membership at Goshen, where his funeral was preached Saturday afternoon by Eld. J. G. Livingston. The burial followed in the graveyard there. Although a great sufferer for months, Mr. Phillips scarcely ever complained. He was not afraid to die and often spoke of his willingness to meet his maker. He was unconscious for two days before he died.

NEW French Flannels in stripe, polka dot and Persian designs at 75c. Severance & Sons.

MR. ROBERT HARDING, of Danville, made a capital speech to the Moreland democratic club Saturday night.

We need our wheat sacks, so send them in at once if you don't expect to pay for them. J. H. Baughman & Co.

FOR a strictly first-class medium price sewing machine buy the ball bearing "Eldridge B" from Higgins & McKinney.

W. F. MARTIN, who was shot in a battle in the Philippines, died of his wounds. He was from Casey county and this paper printed a picture and short biography of him not long ago. His body will be brought back to Casey for interment.

THE post-office department at Washington has ordered that the mail be delivered twice daily at Liberty instead of once, as formerly. Edgemoore made his first trip south from Moreland Thursday morning. I understand there is a strong petition signed by everybody in Liberty asking that this extra mail be discontinued.—Dr. Alcorn in Advocate.

THEY had all-day speaking at Lancaster yesterday, Hon. John D. White, prohibition nominee for governor, speaking in the morning and Hon. R. Frank Peake and A. E. Willson in the afternoon. The two latter gentlemen engaged in a debate in which Mr. Willson is said to have come out second best. Mr. Peake's speech was said to be the finest delivered in Lancaster for years.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB ORGANIZED.—A democratic club, 100 strong, was organized at the court-house Friday night. Hon. R. C. Warren was made chairman and E. C. Walton secretary of the meeting, which while not largely attended, was full of enthusiasm. Mr. Warren was called on for a speech and responded in a splendid effort, after which the following officers of the club were elected: J. H. McAllister, president; S. J. Embury, Sr., vice president; Hon. Harvey Helm, second vice president; W. S. Burch, secretary, and Prof. M. O. Winfrey, treasurer. "The Democratic Club of Stanford" was the name decided on and each member present pledged an effort to secure members and report next Friday night at 7 o'clock at the court-house. Some of the members wanted two meetings a week but it was decided that each Friday night would be sufficient. The chair appointed the following executive committee to secure speakers for next meeting and to attend to other business that may be necessary: John P. Jones, T. M. Goodnight and Harvey Helm, and this committee added the name of Mr. Warren. Speeches were made by several of the members and the meeting proved a veritable love feast. It is expected that the membership will be more than doubled by next Friday night.

HUBBLE.

Moses Adams has moved his saw mill near John Blank's.

Weevil is in all the wheat and has damaged some of it very much.

Corn is beginning to sell at about $1.40 in the crib here. Some bringing a little less and some a little more.

Col. Underwood's sale will be next Thursday, 27th. If you want to buy good, well bred stock don't fail to attend.

H. J. Luce is attending conference at Nicholasville. Wm. Higney is back from Pulaski with a bunch of calves.

Rackla Bros., of Wayne county, are up looking for some mule colts. E. A. White, of Wilmore, is over looking after his farm.

Rankla & Hubble sold some of their hay to Rankla Bros., of Burnside, at 60c. Mr. Polgrove sold a sorrel horse to Wm. Sutton for $65. John Underwood sold his gray family horse for $75. Jack Yeakey dug half bushel of nice potatoes from one single Irish potato.

THIS AND THAT.

Snelbyville contributed $200 to the Galveston flood.

Mrs. Jeff Moore, of Owingsville, fell from her bed and was instantly killed.

The Kentucky Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows will meet in Louisville Oct. 9.

John Wheeler, colored, said to be 108 years old, died at Nicholasville last week.

On motion of Richard Croker Tammany Hall has forwarded $10,000 to the Galveston sufferers.

In a fight over a woman is Bell county, Jim Mosely and Dick Hoskins were shot. Hoskins will die.

Mrs. James Hughes, of Carlisle, dependent over ill health, committed suicide by shooting herself through the heart.

The big suit of W. S. Hume, etc., vs. the Richmond Electric Company, F. B. Adair, of Carlisle, and D. J. House, of Cincinnati, which has been pending in the Madison circuit court for a year, was decided in favor of the plaintiffs by Circuit Judge T. J. Scott, who ordered the Richmond electric plant to be sold.

LAND, STOCK, CROPS, &c.

Corn sold at $12 per acre at a sale in Woodford.

Mark Hardin bought of various parties 20 calves at $18 and sold to Fox & Lawson a bunch of hogs at 4.90.

Beazley Bros. bought of T. S. Payne, of Garrard, a fancy combined mare.

The pair of mules S. M. Owens sold the other day for $400 brought $500 when they landed in Cincinnati.

John B. Rouf, of the West End, sold to Holliday Bros., of Adair, 16 cotton mules at $75. J. K. Baughman sold nice to same at same.

J. C. Haana sold his farm on the Smithfield road, known as the W. T. Hunter place, containing 137 acres, to R. J. Anderson for $70 per acre.—Shelby Sentinel.

Squire John Evans bought in Madison 161 feeding cattle, weighing from 950 to 1,200 pounds, at 41 to 44c. Harvey Rogers bought at Mt. Sterling 42 yearling steers, weight about 625 pounds, at $25 each. Hibler Bros. sold 300 fancy sheep at $11.—Winchester Democrat.

A Kentucky farmer claims to have solved the drouth problem. He says that he planted corn, potatoes and onions together, and that the strength of the onions bring tears to the potatoes' eyes in such large quantities that the ground is kept moist and large crops are raised.

LANCASTER COURT.—A large crowd attended court at Lancaster, but not much cattle trading was done. Only common cattle were offered and there was poor demand for that class. Probably 150 mule colts changed hands at $20 to $65. Mules of all ages were in demand, good aged ones bringing from $100 to $150. Horses were quiet.

CHURCH MATTERS.

Rev. J. I. Willis' meeting at Wallaceport resulted in 11 additions to the church.

Elder J. C. Livingston writes that he will preach at Holdam's Mill next Sunday morning at night.

H. H. Mills, son-in-law of Mr. J. H. Bright, of this county, is in the list of ministers who passed their examination at the conference at Nicholasville.

The Louisville Times published in its Saturday's edition a pretty good picture of Rev. George O. Barnes and his reasons for joining Dowle's Zion Catholic church, recently given in this paper.

Rev. W. S. Grinstead telephoned T. D. Hancey last night that at the conference at Nicholasville, Rev. W. E. Arnold had been assigned to Stanford and that Rev. J. R. Deering was presiding elder for this district. He failed to state where Rev. W. M. Britt had been sent. Mr. Grinstead goes back to Taylorville.

Elder J. L. Davis, of the Church of Christ, is meeting with remarkable success in a campaign in this and Rockcastle counties. In a two-weeks' meeting at Friendship, closing last Monday, there were 28 additions. At Providence just previous to this meeting he received into the church 35 converts.—Somerset Journal.

IN NEIGHBORING COUNTIES.

William Silver shot and killed Charlie Tarter near Somerset. Both were drinking.

Somerset went "wet" Saturday by a majority of 24. The town has been "dry" several years.

Mrs. Wm. Goggin is lying very low with no hope of recovery on the part of her many friends and relatives.—Somerset Journal.

James Isaacs and John Harrison, of Rockcastle, met on the highway yesterday and renewed an old quarrel. Both opened fire and Harrison was instantly killed. Isaacs surrendered.

Allen W. Gullion, a student at Centre College from Carrollton, has just been appointed by Congressman Al S. Berry, of the Sixth district, as a cadet to the United States Military Academy at West Point. In connection with this honor he has just been elected president of the senior class at Centre College.

Mrs. Shumaker, of Boyle, got a verdict of $5,000 against the L. & N. for her damage suit at Danville. Her husband was killed by an L. & N. train. This is the third time this case has been tried. The first time the verdict was $10,000 and the second it was $15,000, the former judgments being reversed in the higher courts.

MATRIMONIAL.

Gov. J. C. W. Beckham and Miss Jean Fuqua, of Owensboro, will be married Nov. 15.

George M. Lane, of Boyle, a widower of 40, and Miss Lucy Tombs, of the West End, were married Sunday.

Public Sale of Fine Farm

As agents, we will sell to the highest bidder

On Saturday, October 6th, 1900,

On the premises.

The Farm of 368 Acres

Of splendid blue-grass land, belonging to the heirs of the late Adam Carpenter. The farm lies on the edge of Casey county, about 5 miles south of Hustonville and every acre is fertile and tillable. On its near the center of the place is a large, two-story frame dwelling, containing eight rooms and two halls; double-story porch in front and on all sides; large stock barn near the house and all necessary out buildings. There are two large tobacco barns conveniently located that will house about 20 acres. About one-third of the farm is well set in grass; the balance in wheat and corn this year. Water is abundant everywhere; a splendid orchard of selected fruit. It can be so divided as to have a good tenant house on one place; the mansion on the other. Parties wishing to examine it, will be shown over it by the Pipes Bros., who live upon it. Seeding privileges now: full possession Jan. 1, 1901. Terms, very reasonable, will be made known on day of sale. Sale promptly at 10 o'clock.
